266 — Future Tenseness

- Panel 1: In Nickey's living room, she and Sheila are dressed, sitting on the sofa. On the table in front of them are the remains of quite a feast of food. Sheila, leaning back against the sofa, says, "Whuf... I think I et too much, but it sure tasted great." Grinning suggestively, Nickey asks, "Saved room for more dessert, I hope?"
- Panel 2: Chuckling softly, Sheila replies, "Not quite yet, but no worries." Nickey laughs along with her, saying, "Glad to hear it!"
- Panel 3: Sheila looks to Nickey, her expression a bit more sober. "Nick, luv," she asks, "can we talk a bit?" Nickey nods. "We can always talk, Shee. Especially now. It's really important that we communicate."
- Panel 4: Looking somewhat relieved, Sheila says, "Good, luv, because..." Nickey interrupts, "After all, we need to know that everything will go well after you've moved in."
