

Transcript for Strip

031 — Getting Personal

- Panel 1: Theo (white tiger) is walking past an open bedroom door when he hears loud cursing and swearing (seen as dingbats, lightning bolts, bombs, and especially the picture of a computer on fire).
- Panel 2: Theo looks inside the bedroom and finds Ophelia (skunk) seated at the computer desk in her bedroom. She appears to be in quite a snit. The tiger asks, “Phee, are you all right?” Fuming, the skunk replies, “It’s my computer again. I swear the blasted thing just doesn’t like me.”
- Panel 3: Our tiger and computer expert steps into the room, standing next to the desk. “Oh come on,” he says. “That’s the sort of junk I hear at the help desk all day long. Computers these days are sophisticated, but I don’t think they have actual personalities yet. It can’t ‘not like you’.”
- Panel 4: Ophelia waves a hand at the monitor, saying, “Try telling IT that!” On the screen, we see the words, SAME TO YOU, STINKY.

